GOP Slaps Truman On 'Fear Talk'

Wiley Asserts U. S. Not Going To Dogs, Points To Figures

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans accused former President Truman today of conducting a "fear" campaign they said could bring about an economic depression.
Truman's Saturday night broadcast against the "economic misrule" he said had produced a Republican recession was assailed by leading GOP senators as a disservice to efforts to slow the business downturn and to lift employment.
Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said that this is not a period when "men who have been in high places can afford to ignore their responsibilities."

Says He Creates Fear
Citing income and employment statistics, Wiley said the country is not going to the dogs.
"But if the people are going to continue to be told that everything is haywire they are going to get in a mental condition where they will stop spending and then anything could happen," he said.

Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) agreed in a separate interview, while nearly a score of other Republicans issued weekend statements criticizing various parts of Truman's speech at a $100-a-plate dinner.
The statements used such words as irresponsible, cynical, untrue, demagogic and reckless.
But Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said he agrees with Truman's statements that the country is "tired of being bamboozled by the Republicans" and is likely to give the Democrats sweeping victories in this year's congressional races and in the 1960 presidential contest.
"The big issue in this year's campaign is spuds and not Sputniks," Mansfield said in an interview. "If the people don't have the spuds, there won't be any more Sputniks as far as we are concerned."

Cites Republican Record
Truman said that the results of five years of Republican White House rule could be added up in five million or more unemployed, millions more working part time, increasing bankruptcies, neglected school programs, overcrowded colleges and hospitals and highways in need of rebuilding.
Adlai E. Stevenson, who spoke to one section of the double-header dinner said that five years of Republican rule had been "stained by heavy failure in many areas—the excesses of McCarthyism, the disintegration of our alliances, the loss of confidence in us abroad, the decay in our military position and now the decline in our economic vitality."

UN Rejects Red Demand To Quit ROK Territory
PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—North Korea stood pat today on its refusal to return a Korean National Airlines plane and its passengers unless South Korea agrees to negotiate with the Communists directly.
The U.N. Command in turn rejected a Communist proposal that U.N. troops get out of South Korea.
South Korea has refused to deal with the Communists on the ground the North Korea is an illegal regime.
The twin-engine civilian transport flew across the true line Feb. 16 carrying 34 persons, including two American pilots. The U.N. Command is certain it was seized by Communists on board.

Ike Flies Back To Capital, Plans Another Arizona Trip
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—President Eisenhower returned to Washington today after escorting his wife to Phoenix for a vacation.
Eisenhower flew about 3,000 miles out of his way en route home from a 10-day Georgia vacation to bring Mrs. Eisenhower for a visit at the secluded Maine. Chance health and beauty resort near Phoenix.
Upon arriving, he hurried off for his first complete round of golf since last November.
After 18 holes in 75-degree temperature at Paradise Valley Country Club, he told Phoenix newspaper publisher Eugene C. Pulliam, a member of his foursome:

Gaither Sees Atomic War As Imminent

ATLANTA (AP)—The original head of the commission which prepared the Gaither report on this nation's defenses says the security of America and the free world is in unprecedented peril.
H. Rowan Gaither Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Ford Foundation, told a meeting of the Fellows of the American Bar Foundation yesterday.
"Our security is in peril not because I believe a total nuclear war is imminent or inevitable but because there are mounting political, economic and social forces, strongly abetted by the threat of nuclear extinction, which can disintegrate the fabric and will of free nations and enslave mankind."

Gaither gained prominence recently as first chairman of a presidential advisory commission which drew up a report on America's defense position. Although the report is still classified as secret, much of its contents have leaked.
Before the report was completed, Gaither, a San Francisco lawyer, became ill. He was replaced by two co-chairmen, William C. Foster, vice president of Olin-Mathieson Chemical Corp., and Robert C. Sprague, of the Sprague Electric Co.

The Ford Foundation official said that America, often complacent and overoptimistic, was guilty of self-deception in assuming that our superiority would go unchallenged.
"The ultimate objective of international communism is world domination," he continued.

Kyger Power Firm Strike Spread Seen

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—A strike hit the big Kyger Creek Power plant near here last night and is expected to spread to 15 electric companies in seven north central states.
The companies have said that in event of a strike there will not be a power "blackout" that supervisory personnel will be able to maintain electric service.
William R. Munger, national vice president of the striking Utility Workers Union of America (UWUA), said the union is gambling on supervisors being unable to handle the work load at Kyger Creek indefinitely.
Presumably, the union is hoping the same situation will prevail if and when the strike spreads to the 15 companies which formed the Ohio Valley Electric Corp. (OVEC), operators of the Kyger Creek plant.
Munger said all main installations of the 15 sponsoring companies "definitely will be picketed."

The companies operate in Ohio, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky.

Nasser Gets Big Ovation In Damascus

DAMASCUS, Arab Republic (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser paid his first visit to the Syrian province of his United Arab Republic today and received a tumultuous welcome from 100,000 of his new subjects.
Damascus radio's announcement of the surprise flight from Cairo brought crowds rushing to the building where Nasser was conferring with outgoing Syrian President Shukri Kuwally. Both appeared on the balcony and waved.
"Long live Nasser our new president," the crowd chanted.
The Cairo press had been predicting the Kuwaiti would arrive in Egypt at any moment to transfer power to Nasser. The Egyptian leader was thought to have changed signals for security reasons, visiting here to confer with Kuwally on a cabinet for the new state.
The Egyptians and Syrians voted almost unanimously Friday to join in the U.A.R., with Nasser having almost absolute power as president during a transition period of unspecified length. Foreign governments continued to recognize the new Arab state. The latest were West Germany, Indonesia and Switzerland.

Reds Set Off Big H-Bomb
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced a new Russian weapons test yesterday. Japanese scientists said the Soviets had exploded a hydrogen bomb in the Siberian arctic.
An Atomic Energy Commission announcement said only that "the Soviets had conducted a weapons test" in Russian territory and that "the yield of the test was in the megaton range." A megaton is the explosive equivalent of a million tons of TNT.
Somewhat later, Japan's Central Meteorological Observatory said its staff had calculated the blast occurred about 2,480 miles north-northwest of Japan. An observatory spokesman said "rather big" and was believed "similar" in size to a previous Russian test held last October.

Plans For Amnesty Law To Free Those Held For Politics

By BRIAN BELL
BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Gaunt, bespectacled Arturo Frondizi, a left-wing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory.
Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-roader Ricardo Balbin in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed way behind.
Both are attorneys and represent left and right wings of the Radical party—a conservative group despite its name. Balbin ran for president against Peron in 1952 and Frondizi was No. 2 man on the ticket.

Also Helped By Reds
But Frondizi's intransigent Radical party collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum this time. His backers ranged from Communists to labor to Peronists and Fascist splinter parties.

With more than eight million Argentines voting, unofficial figures early today gave Frondizi 1,434,773 votes, Balbin 892,133.

During his campaign Frondizi pledged amnesty for all Peronists and that "includes everybody." But he never specifically included Peron, which raised speculation whether Frondizi would let the banished dictator come back.

Last night Frondizi said the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics.

From his refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the implied support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

Peron claimed the election did not really represent the majority, because Peronists were banned from campaigning or running openly under their true colors.

"We Peronists... know what we want and march straight to its execution," the banished dictator said. "Each Peronist has his instructions and their leaders the directives to fulfill them."

Courted Them Openly
Frondizi courted the Peronists openly during the campaign. He professed surprise when the Communists withdrew their candidates and threw their support to him and denied ever having any "direct or indirect" contact with the Reds.

Balbin's defeat was a blow to President Pedro Aramburu's provisional government, the military regime which came to power after Peron was kicked out in 1955. The government maintained official neutrality in the election, but its sentiments and tacit support were with Balbin. His People's party was the choice of many white collar workers, conservatives and much of the upper class.

Ex-Counsel Blasted By Miami Man

Cites Loans Made Before Mack Named As Member Of FCC

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurman A. Whiteside, Miami lawyer, denounced Bernard Schwartz as "an unmitigated liar" today for having connected him with a television channel applicant and for suggesting he passed money to a Federal Communications Commission member.
Whiteside, testifying under oath before a special House investigating subcommittee, accused Schwartz, dismissed committee counsel, of withholding information from the group.
He said Schwartz knew there was a long record of loan transactions between Whiteside and Richard A. Mack going back five years before Mack became a member of the FCC.

Described As Loans
Schwartz told the committee earlier in its hearing that Whiteside had turned over at least $2,650 to Mack. Schwartz raised a question whether this was intended to influence Mack's vote in the contest for Miami TV Channel 10. Both Mack and Whiteside had described the money as loans Schwartz added.

Whiteside said Schwartz had further testified Whiteside was employed as an attorney by National Airlines or its subsidiary, Public Service Television, Inc., which won the contest for the Miami channel.

Whiteside said Schwartz knew this "was untrue prior to the time he gave his testimony."
"To that extent he bears false witness and is an unmitigated liar," the Miami attorney told the subcommittee in deliberate tones.

Whiteside said Schwartz stated that Mack was pledged in the TV contest was untrue. Whiteside said Mack has never been pledged at any time.

He said that Schwartz had no facts on which to base his testimony and what information he had was second hand and was premised on an affidavit made by a Frank Katzentine, a loser in the case.

The subcommittee has been inquiring about alleged pressures on the FCC in behalf of various applicants for TV Channel 10 in Miami. The study is part of the House group's investigation to determine whether the federal regulatory agencies are carrying out the intent of Congress in creating them.

Katzentine Lost Out
The name of Whiteside has bobbed up all through the hearings on Channel 10. He has been described as one who worked on behalf of Public Service Television, Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

An FCC examiner recommended in March 1955 that the Miami channel be given to A. Frank Katzentine, Miami Beach radio station operator. By a 4-2 decision in February 1957, the FCC granted the channel to Public Service, one of four applicants for the TV license now described as worth millions.

Boy Shot To Death In Gangland Style
NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—An East Los Angeles boy was shot to death and another wounded after being kidnaped in gangland style, sheriff's deputies said today.
Gerald R. Delao, 14, was killed. George Rodriguez, 13, was wounded in the arm.

The shootings occurred in Soledad Canyon, 10 miles northeast of here, after the boys were dumped out of their abductors' car, officers said they were told.

Two youths were arrested in East Los Angeles for questioning. Dep. Sheriff Al Edsel said Lorenzo Castro, 18, and Ruben Ramos, 20, were booked on suspicion of murder, kidnapping and attempted murder.

A motorist picked up the Rodriguez boy on the highway. The boy told officers to his companion's body.

Edsel said he was told that (rouble) developed among a number of youths Sunday afternoon in a theater where Castro was employed as an usher.

Officers said the Rodriguez boy told them the abductors forced them into a car, saying they were taking the boys for a ride; told them to get out when they reached the canyon road, then shot them.

"Randy got it real bad," Edsel quoted Rodriguez. "but they only hit me in the arm. I fell down and I guess they thought I was dead."

"There has been bad blood brewing ever since a shooting in which Castro figured Feb. 7," Edsel said.

On that occasion Castro fired at Elias Alvarado, 17, as Alvarado ran from the theater after a woman's purse had been snatched. The bullet hit a crucifix hanging from Alvarado's neck. The impact drove the crucifix in Alvarado's chest. He was not injured seriously. Castro was not held.

From his refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the implied support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

Peron claimed the election did not really represent the majority, because Peronists were banned from campaigning or running openly under their true colors.

"We Peronists... know what we want and march straight to its execution," the banished dictator said. "Each Peronist has his instructions and their leaders the directives to fulfill them."

Knowland Backs Nixon In '60 Race

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Knowland of California has set his sights on the 1964 — or possibly 1968 — Republican presidential nomination.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader who is running this year for governor of California, practically took himself out of the 1960 presidential contest with a conditional endorsement of Vice President Nixon.

"If I am elected governor of California I expect to serve out my term," he said in an interview. "I think Dick Nixon is likely to be the presidential nominee and I would support him."

Knowland made it clear, however, he is not foreclosing the possibility that he himself would become a candidate for the 1960 nomination if anything should happen to eliminate Nixon from the race.

The Republican leader said he had no intention of "Shermanizing" himself to the extent of saying he would not accept the nomination or would not serve if elected. He referred to the statement made after the Civil War by Gen. William T. Sherman.

Knowland said he has no present intention of entering any presidential primaries in 1960. Nixon is expected to enter that year's primaries and there has been speculation that he might be embarrassed by having another Californian as one of his opponents.

Knowland's decision to wait it out beyond 1960 apparently is based on the belief that (1) Nixon now is far ahead in the contest for the nomination, (2) that 1960 might not be a good year for the Republicans and (3) that he is young enough at 49 to hide his time until 1964 or even 1968.

The Knowland strategy apparently takes into account the possibility that Nixon might be nominated and defeated in 1960 and thus open up the field for Knowland in 1964. If Nixon were elected in 1960 and again in 1964, Knowland still would be available in 1968 if he continued to hold the California governorship.

BRIDE-ELECT VANISHES—A 13-state alarm was out today for Irene Arzedi, 29, who disappeared in Brooklyn five hours before her big church wedding to Joseph Pinto, 31, on Saturday. (AP Photos)

N. Y. Bride-Elect Vanishes Before Rites In Church

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today are looking for a 29-year-old woman who disappeared five hours before her scheduled wedding.

So far they have found nothing to indicate whether Irene Arzedi disappeared voluntarily Saturday, or was abducted. A 13-state police alarm is out for her.

Miss Arzedi was to have been married at 4 p.m. Saturday to Joseph Pinto, 31, a neighbor, at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church in Brooklyn.

Saturday morning the couple went to mass together and had breakfast in her home. Her mother, and brother, Carlo, 26, were with them.

Miss Arzedi went to a neighborhood pharmacy, bought cold cream and bobby pins, said she had to hurry home—and disappeared.

Various calls to police from persons reporting seeing Miss Arzedi have led to dead ends.

China Reds Shell Chiang-Held Isle

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist Chinese artillery leveled its heaviest attack in eight months on the Nationalist outpost of Quemoy last night, the Defense Ministry reported. It said nobody was hurt and the Nationalist guns didn't reply.

Red guns lobbed 174 shells at the island just off mainland China. It was the most concentrated barrage since June 27, when the Communists were credited with firing 191 rounds at Quemoy.

Doctor Says Tots Require Eating Style

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anthropologist Dr. Margaret Mead advised today that children must be taught a sense of style in eating.

Food and psychology go hand in hand, she told an opening session of the one-day National Food Conference.

The conference has gathered together some 700 representatives of all branches of the food industry to review the nation's eating habits.

Dr. Mead noted that "within the family each new human being learns how and what, when and how much to eat, and this learning is as essential as learning to walk and talk."

Her point was that an appreciation of what is proper aids that process.

The mother, Dr. Mead said, has to realize how much "damage" she can do to her children's ability to choose freely, if he uses food as either reward or punishment, or makes scenes over a child's refusal of a particular food.

The president of the American Medical Assn., Dr. David B. Allison, said he is "particularly concerned about the estimated 10 million Americans currently influenced by nutrition quacks."

"Despite the vast amount of nutrition information available to our people," he said, "a large segment is still poorly nourished."

Fascists, Foes Battle In Rome

One In 10 Women Become Pregnant Before Marriage, Kinsey Discloses

NEW YORK (AP) — One in 10 American women becomes pregnant before marriage, the Kinsey Institute reported today.

Of those pregnancies which do not lead to quick marriages, 89 per cent end in abortion, the institute said, 6 per cent produce illegitimate children and 5 per cent end in miscarriage.

A copyrighted article in the current issue of McCall's magazine is based on the report, the first issued by the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University since the death of the institute's founder, Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, in 1956.

The report, titled "Pregnancy, Birth and Abortion," also said: "Among all women of child-bearing age now alive, one in seven has had or will have a premarriage abortion."

Most unmarried women who undergo abortions continue sexual relations afterward. Only 3 per cent stop.

"Shotgun weddings" are comparatively rare. Only 19 per cent of single women who become pregnant marry during their pregnancies. Half these marriages eventually break up.

Women born during the Gay 90s were less sexually promiscuous than those who reached adolescence during and after the Roaring 20s. The flaming youth of the 20s apparently set a new sexual pattern for the nation.

Two thirds of the single women who have had abortions reported no unfavorable consequences whatever.

The more devoutly religious a woman is, the less likely she is to become pregnant before marriage.

Of women who marry after reaching 30 years of age, 31 per cent having premarital sexual relations become pregnant and 30 per cent have abortions.

The magazine article is based on the third book in the famous Kinsey reports on sexual behavior to be published May 14.

The statistics are derived from the group of nearly 3,000 women interviewed for the institute's 1953 report, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." After eliminating certain women what remained was a sample of 5,293.

In its 1953 report of female sex behavior, the institute said half the women questioned had sexual experience before marriage. Of these, one in five becomes pregnant, the new report said.

What kind of women are most likely to have sexual relations before marriage and become pregnant? It depends on many factors, according to the article, varying from "a chance fragrance in the summer air" to "a woman's own sexual appetite."

The report said that of women who become pregnant before marriage most are married and "presumably are as happy as any other wives."

In fact, more women with premarital sex relations married than those who never had any premarital sexual relations.

The report indicated that abortions were performed by physicians, persons who had attended medical school for a brief time, and some who had picked up a smattering of medical knowledge.

The price of abortions, the survey said is increasing. Up through the 1920s, the median price of an abortion was $76. In the 1940s, it jumped to $143 and is considered even higher now.

Commenting on its findings, the institute said: "To keep one's self and/or one's suitors at a high pitch of emotional and sexual excitement for 5 to 10 years from the beginning of dating to marriage, and meanwhile abstain from sexual relations is, biologically speaking, a most unnatural as well as difficult task."

Missile Area To Be Checked By Five Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States expects to put five new telemetering ships into service on its South Atlantic missile range within the next few weeks, Pentagon sources said today.

The five vessels will have their headquarters at the Chaguramas Naval Base, Trinidad, British West Indies.

The vessels were described as ready to leave for Chaguramas "any day" now, but actual commissioning is reported being held up by difficulties in recruiting crews.

The sources here said the 5,100-ton ships will supplement present facilities on the ocean range by recording impact data on missiles fired out over it.

The range extends roughly 5,000 miles from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to Ascension Island in the South Atlantic.

As presently constituted, the facilities on the range include 12 land bases, and six telemetering ships, strung out at intervals averaging just under 300 miles.

The vessels being readied for service are coastal cargo vessels of the C-1-MAV-1 type, and will be able to remain at sea for much longer intervals than those now in use without refueling or provisioning.

They are equipped with radar to "lock on" and track missiles fired from Cape Canaveral, as well as special electronic equipment to record data sent by the missile in flight.

Such data enables engineers to check performance of the big rockets.

Feud Continues In Baltimore's Snowball Fight

BALTIMORE (AP)—Both sides took another pot shot last night in Baltimore City's snowball battle—the feud between Traffic and Transit Commissioner Henry Barnes and the city.

They have been squabbling about handling of last weekend's snowstorm in the city as well as statements as to what to do—or not to do—with cars parked along the city's main traffic arteries still not cleared of snow.

Barnes acted Saturday with an order that the police department post no parking signs, and tow away all vehicles still parked on main streets.

But Chief Inspector Oscar L. Lusby refused to go along, said he didn't think his men had the authority to do that. And he held fast despite Barnes' protests that his order had all the force and effect of a city ordinance.

Last night, Lusby said Barnes' office had made "unfair and untrue statements" about the police department.

"It is most unfair," he said, "for Mr. Barnes to now attempt to shift his responsibility to the police department by issuing such statements as . . . 'the public can blame the police department' if the snow does not get removed. The police department can only enforce the law . . ."

Barnes had a reply to that. He said his department moved almost 5,000 abandoned and stalled vehicles during last week and "at no time did the police department question our authority to do it."

Byrd Says State Hasn't Obtained Enough Food

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.) has charged that the government of West Virginia has not requested sufficient quantities of surplus commodities until all requests from the states have been filled.

In a telegram sent to Gov. Underwood, the congressman from the 6th District said that the Federal Agricultural Marketing Service was sending in experts to milk and meal — would be suggested" in state officials how more of the commodities could be made available.

Byrd urged the adoption of emergency measures to get in more surplus food "with a minimum of delay."

"We must not permit hunger and malnutrition to occur in families of our unfortunate unemployed or so long as there are ways and means of preventing such conditions."

Byrd declared that "the steady increase in the number of unemployed persons in West Virginia is being accompanied by food deficiencies in a large number of families."

"My correspondence indicates that quantities of surplus commodities being supplied to needy families in West Virginia are insufficient and that many worthy families have not been certified as being eligible."

Byrd told the governor he was sure more surplus food was available for distribution in West Virginia.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Old Patterns Crumble

THE WESTERN world is viewing with caution the merger of Iraq and Jordan, the second joining of two nations in the Middle East this year. It is not clear how the advantage will fall for the cause of free men. At first glance the move looks helpful. The new Arab Federation may be seen as a pro-Western to the Egyptian-Syrian federation with its pro-Moscow leanings. Iraq is an important member of the Baghdad pact embracing Britain, Turkey and Pakistan and thus stretching the free world's defense are around the southern flank of the Soviet Union. Jordan is a very weak state which has long been in danger of being gobbled up by one or another of its neighbors. Almost from the outset it has lacked both the quality of political leadership and the economic substance to endure effectively as an independent nation.

THE FEDERATION of these two leaves Iraq free to remain in the Baghdad pact, though it does not bring Jordan into that fold. Observers are puzzling over the question of how half a country that is supposed to be unified in its major respects can be geared for the defense establishment the pact requires, while the other half is not. There is naturally considerable fear, therefore, that the Iraq-Jordan merger really imperils the pact, which would be of little value without Iraq. The Iraqis may decide that the success of the federation is more vital than their continued pact membership. Furthermore, reports abound that Saudi Arabia might join the federation if Iraq were free of pact ties. Another prospect looms. The Arab Federation might at some future time link up with the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria.

THIS WOULD NOT be likely so long as Egypt's President Nasser stood to dominate the entire union, since opposition to him is one of the prime factors that draws Iraq, Arabia and Jordan together in interest. Such an enlarged federation would hardly have a pro-Western orientation even without Nasser as its head. Even the present Arab Federation would be of questionable value as a defense bulwark should Iraq be divorced from the Baghdad agreement. Old patterns are crumbling in the Middle East. Only the most skillful diplomacy—and perhaps a broad stroke of luck—may prevent the remaking of the region into new political shapes that could be enduringly hostile to the free countries of the West.

BURGLARS in an Iowa city stole 1,000 sleeping pills and some headache medicine. Sleuths might center their hunt on folks sleeping off a monumental binge.

The Rising Jobless

NOTHING IS TO BE gained by becoming panicky as the national total of unemployment continues to rise. Nor is anything to be gained by evading this issue. Nearly one-third of the nation's major industrial centers have been designated by the Department of Labor as areas of "substantial" unemployment. These are areas in which more than six per cent of the normal working force is idle. The department's survey covers 149 big industrial centers, of which 45 are now labeled "surplus labor" areas. That compares with 24 last November and 19 a year ago. The importance of these figures should not be exaggerated. Unemployment in most of the "surplus labor" areas is still considered to be moderate. In various industries, job totals are still at record highs, or not much below. Nevertheless, when there are nearly four million unemployed there is cause for concern. The point is that a watchful eye should be kept on the labor situation. Declining labor figures are one of the most trustworthy indications of recession. Keeping our economy strong and dynamic is no less important than sharing up our defenses with new and more terrible weapons. This is something for all citizens, and especially for Congress, to bear clearly in mind during the coming months.

WHETHER this is a year of promise or not, we don't know. But with an election coming up, it will certainly be a year of promises.

Minnesota Gives GOP Cause For Fear

WASHINGTON—Another rock-ribbed Republican bastion in the Midwest has trumpeted the farm rebellion against the Eisenhower Administration. It is Minnesota's First Congressional District embracing 12 rich agricultural counties and a number of small cities, including Rochester, home of the famous Mayo Clinic.

In a special election to fill the seat of the late Representative August H. Andresen, Republican Albert Quie won by only 655 votes, or 50.3 percent of the 87,965 votes cast. A recount is in the works about which the Democratic loser, Eugene Foley, is optimistic.

STATE political observers agree that a recount could go in any direction. Only two communities in the district have voting machines. The rest of the ballots are handwritten and many are cast by mail. A net switch of only 328 votes to Foley would put him in.

Whether or not that happens, the hairline nature of Quie's election is chilling news for Republicans. Andresen won by 25,900 votes in the last off-year election, 1954, and by 34,000 in 1956. The

Peter Edson
Employment Picture Is Not All Gloomy

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — With four and a half million U.S. workers unemployed in January, the first step in correcting this situation should be to find out who and where they are.

Labor Department experts say the problem is really only half as big as it appears on first glance. Even if there were "full" employment, there would still be some two and a half million unemployed.

These are the people between jobs, or moving from one job to another. They include the farm and food processing workers like fruit and vegetable pickers and canners, people laid off after Christmas rush jobs and construction, logging and other outdoor workers who can't be given full time work in severe weather.

So the problem narrows down to finding work for the two million other unemployed in easily determinable industries and locations. And the solution would seem to be in solving their specific problems rather than the shotgun approach of trying to stimulate business in general by vast public works relief programs.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Since, these days, scarcely anyone goes naked in the theatre of New York (both Ben Ali Haggin and Flo Ziegfeld having moved on to Elysian Fields dappled, no doubt, with husked young women), it seemed to make sense the other stormy and forbidding night to sit down with James Stirock.

There IS, at the moment, one naked girl on Broadway. She is in "The Entertainer" and appears, starkly nude and frozenly immobile, for about eight seconds in the second act. She represents Britannia, complete with shield, spear and stuffed bulldog, neither of which accoutrements mar the landscape.

Mr. Stirock, who is president, owner and heaven knows what else of Brooks Costume Co., said that he did not have the order sheet at hand but he felt a remote possibility that Brooks had furnished the spear of her costume.

There WAS a time when the late Mr. Haggin and the late Mr. Ziegfeld, not to mention the late Earl Carroll, strewed their stages with nude girls, all happily wearing a smile de rigueur, or what we commonly know as a fixed smile. Mr. Stirock's costumery, which goes far back in theatrical history and was founded by his astute father, furnished nothing for these stripped tableaux except, possibly, an occasional bit of fitch or small mink throw.

"We dressed many a 'Follies,' 'Scandals' and 'Vanities,'" he said, "but we never did much about the Haggin tableaux. Now and again a sort of minor drama was effected, but nothing that couldn't be cut straight from a bolt of diaphanous cloth and sort of tossed at the girls."

NATURALLY, I said, I didn't expect him to do much about such dubious of nudity, but what about the big musicals with everyone clad to the teeth in hue and uniform?

Maybe That Chicken Did It

WASHINGTON — Colonel A. Frank Katzentine once was the Mayor of Miami Beach, Fla. He is a lawyer there, proprietor of Radio Station WKAT, land owner, civic leader, distributor of wired music to factories and cocktail lounges in Florida, and part owner of a TV station in Guatemala City, Guatemala.

The colonel looks in profile like the late movie actor Edward Arnold, who made a specialty of playing big businessmen, who frequently seemed to resemble Colonel Katzentine.

THE COLONEL was so anxious for the Federal Communications Commission to award him TV Channel 10 in Miami that he could taste it. The FCC granted the license to his fellow Floridian, George Baker, the president of National Airlines.

Charges of hocus-pocus, political pressures, and of loans to FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack — also of Florida — have been keeping the wires hot ever since. Now the House Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight is investigating and here's the colonel, in person, to tell his side of the high-pressure tale.

WHEN HE discovered that his bid for the channel was about to be turned down, he got in touch with his old pal, Senator Estes Kefauver. The colonel appealed to both his own Senators, George A. Smathers and Spessard L. Holland. He hurried to a boat moored in Miami Beach for a talk with Senator Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the Senate committee having to do with TV.

The colonel's helpers brought word of his plight to the late Senator Joe McCarthy, to the executive assistant of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, to Senator Alexander Wiley and to Representative Clarence Brown.

"WE WERE dying," said the colonel. "I was trying to get help wherever I could."

Years later in 1951, there was Mack, as chairman of the Florida Public Utilities Commission, writing the FCC a letter urging

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—"Why am I struggling?" said Maria Schell, musingly. "Toward what am I running? What do I want so much?"

These questions today worry the 31-year-old Swiss-Viennese star, who is being acclaimed as perhaps the finest foreign actress to hit Hollywood since Greta Garbo.

She is like no ordinary movie star, and you sense this upon meeting her. She gives a feeling of fire under snow.

Maria is known as the "Blonde Angel" and, sometimes, as the "Blonde Demon." She has a peasant-lush body, horizon-blue eyes, and a face of startling innocence.

Equally startling is her firmness of purpose. She pursues her goal — perfection in acting—with a flaming zeal that makes easy-going performers who work with her feel a bit awed.

MISS SCHELL IS NOT unaware of the danger that artists face who make almost a religion of their work—of being tagged as difficult or temperamental.

She received $50 a week for her first stage role in Switzerland, and was raised to $110 for her second one.

MISS SCHELL collects antiques, like Chinese and Japanese pottery. She enjoys solitude, and she and her husband, Horst Hachler, a young German director, recently bought a small estate near Munich.

WASHINGTON—A motion picture producing outfit is moving into Washington as soon as it can obtain possession of its new studios in the Sheraton-Park Hotel. This may not spell the knell of Hollywood and Long Island, but I feel it should give those communities cause for concern. When it comes to raw material we would seem to have them outstripped, and they can interpret that anyway they fancy.

Our Capitol City has a self-refilling reservoir of actors so film-conscious they won't take the Fifth Amendment unless staring into a camera. We can fill any character role, we have so many characters. We have talent at all stages of development, including arrested.

NATURAL TALENT abounds: We have performers who know all the angles without any suggestions from Robert Montgomery. We have artists who can give you a song and dance about anything.

THE future is ours, cinematically-speaking, if we care to grasp it. We have a couple of starlets named Perle and Gwen who are so full of promise that fans want to send them promissory notes.

WE HAVE REAL tried and true actresses here. Iona Massey has her permanent residence with us; so does Constance Bennett. Irene Dunne virtually commutes here on behalf of the Grand Old Party.

Washington is Helen Hayes' home, and she's almost as familiar a figure, coming and going from the White House, as Sherman Adams, although possibly not as photogenic. And if we ever grow weary of all the gab and bring back silent pictures, we have a gold mine in Corinne Griffith.

It goes without saying that we are generously stocked with comedy types. What could be more mirth-provoking than a senator advocating an oil depletion allowance when his oil is never depleted? It is too bad that Harold Stassen tore himself away from the Administration. He has been with it since 1933. If he had only stuck it out another two years he'd have been a natural for "The Seven Year Itch."

Harmony Ticket Hacks Away At Republicans

By The Associated Press
Members of Maryland's Democratic "harmony ticket" for the May 20 primary election took the occasion of George Washington's birthday Saturday to do a little hatchet work on their Republican opponents.

All of the top four candidates were on hand for a kickoff dinner in the University of Maryland's dining hall at College Park. Comptroller J. Millard Tawes for governor, Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro for U. S. Senate, Senate President Louis Goldstein for comptroller and Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert for reelection.

The weekend also brought GOP criticism from two of D'Alesandro's opponents for the Senate nomination who aren't on the harmony slate—Baltimore County contractor George P. Mahoney and Johns Hopkins economics professor Clarence D. Long.

Tawes said unemployment figures continue to rise while the Eisenhower administration is using such phrases as "there'll be an upturn by Spring" and "the economy is just taking a breather."

"Those expressions," said Tawes, "were used 30 years ago by Herbert Hoover at a time when America was headed for the worst depression in its history."

Today, a whole new generation is beginning to learn the old, sad story of unemployment, low farm income, tight credit and high prices.

D'Alesandro said he advocated federal aid to colleges and universities because America's existence depends upon harvesting the potential of its youth.

"We cannot continue to waste the capabilities of thousands of young men and women—able young men and women—simply because they cannot afford to continue their education," he said.

Mahoney said Maryland's two Republican senators, J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler, "missed the boat recently when $5 million dollars in contracts were allocated elsewhere, despite a low bid of the Bethlehem-Sparrows Point shipyard (in Baltimore)." Mahoney said this represented a loss of more than 16 million man-hours of work, and added:

"It's time our senators adopted a businessman's approach to their jobs—maybe then Maryland will get its fair share of shipbuilding contracts."

Long said the United States is suffering from recession and inflation simultaneously because "they are both caused by the same fundamental factor—the failure of labor, industry and government to increase their efficiency fast enough to keep up with pressure for higher wages and profits."

The candidate suggested that labor increase output, that business cut costs with economies and that government liberalize credit and unemployment insurance.

Killer Diseases

During the four years of World War II, 294,000 American lives were lost in combat, according to the American Heart Association, which states that 3,369,600 Americans died of heart and blood vessel diseases during the same four-year period.

Recession Report Worries Britain

LONDON (AP)—Britain today was reported worried by reports of a growing U. S. recession and has been urging Washington to approve relaxing restrictions on trade with the Communist bloc.

Prime Minister Macmillan sent three top economic aides to Washington to get a first-hand report on the U. S. situation. They are Sir Paul Gore-Booth, deputy undersecretary in the Foreign Office in charge of economic affairs, and Sir Leslie Rowan and Sir Robert Hall of the Treasury.

They are reported to have suggested to the U. S. State Department a review of the restrictions still banning trade with the Russians and the Communist bloc in strategic materials.

The first effects of the North American recession were shown in a 5 1/2 per cent fall in United Kingdom exports to the dollar area in January, compared with the monthly average for the previous quarter.

More than half of this decline, however, was in sales to Canada which are always seasonally low in January. Sales to the United States were down 6 per cent.

Paradoxically, British automobile exports to the United States in January reached a record 14,076 cars—1,000 a week more than in any previous month.

Macmillan's government is pledged to maintain a tight money policy in face of some Socialist warnings the squeeze was endangering full employment.

Labor Minister Ian Macleod, in answering critics of the Conservative administration, argued: "The unemployment figures, though higher, are not, in fact, much higher than in recent years."

'Aladdin' Fails To Make Grade As Top TV Show

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"Aladdin," as translated onto television, was an electronic wonder of sound, color, action and scene. Yet the CBS-TV "Show of the Month" was not the work of an inspired genie.

Better than many programs visible on the home screens, the Arabian nights story presented Friday evening nevertheless was not as good as everyone had been led to expect.

S. J. Perelman, who wrote the book, and Cole Porter, who wrote the music, simply did not rub the lamp of their respective talents hard enough to evoke much magic.

The centuries old fairy tale concerns a poor Chinese boy named Aladdin who came into the possession of a magic lamp with which he made very good indeed.

From such a theme one expected Perelman to draw humor and fashion a little irony. Was his work hampered by the preceding even of the program? In any event, humor did not reach the screen.

After hearing the music, it seems probable that Porter, as previously reported, wrote the eight numbers in nine days.

Sal Mincio was barely adequate to the taxing role of Aladdin. Into the role of the magician, who was Aladdin's antagonist, Cyril Ritchie injected broad good nature in an obvious attempt to keep the scenes lively and moving. Perhaps Richard was as baffled as any thoughtful viewer over his unmitigated reasons for trying to destroy innocent Aladdin.

Considering its cost and its cast, how does it compare to a Broadway musical? "Aladdin" compared unfavorably. In fact, it would not have opened, Perelman and Porter, to name only two, would not have let it open.

Business Briefs...

NEW YORK—(INS)—Walworth Company reported today record sales and earnings in 1957. Sales totaled $94,774,119, an increase of 12 per cent over 1956. Net earnings were $1,924,714, or $2.23 per common share, as against $4,476,051, or $2.21, the previous year.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Steel Magazine said today steel production has hit the bottom of its decline and will start inching up. The metal working weekly added that strong evidence of bettering conditions has prompted some companies to call men back to work.

The publication said a gradual upturn in March is likely because of seasonal improvements in bigging, but in the performance of steel-consuming industries and because customers' inventories are close to rock bottom.

Railroad Conductor Not Being Definite

SYOSSET, N. Y., (AP)—"Next stop is Cold Spring Harbor," conductors on the Port Jefferson branch of the Long Island Railroad used to say when trains pulled out of this station.

However, in the past few months many of them have changed their call to: "Next station Cold Spring Harbor."

"With the cold weather we've been having we really never know when the next 'stop' will be," explained one conductor.

Peter Ustinov Show 'Facile, Glib, Imperfect'

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Having once lit up the TV sky for us on "Omnibus" as Samuel Johnson, the delightfully versatile Peter Ustinov came back to the same show yesterday with an old, although not very, play of his own called "Moment of Truth."

It was another full tilt of Ustinov the actor against a role of a very old man, a hero in his unnamed country brought back as a figurehead when the land is captured by an enemy.

It was an ironic allegory, ambitious as all get-out, plainly written by a man of high intelligence and even loftier ambition to touch the stars up where Shaw and Shakespeare sparkled while writing, but in the performance it was a facile, glib and imperfect play.

Ustinov did far better as an actor than as a director or playwright, the latter contribution bursting out in fine, perceptive touches, epigrammatic in the occasionally clumsy extreme, from time to time, but not with a sustained importance in the Shavian or Bardian fashion.

As director, Ustinov also must have been responsible for the casting, which threw together a wild distraction of types, some, like himself, very British; others, like Jason Robards Jr. and Nancy Wickwire, pure American.

The friction could have been avoided by casting similar types, but it was hard in the first place to blend the speech and styles of all these who for performance purposes were supposed to be countrymen.

Also, it was impossible to accept Jason Robards as a countryman's prime minister—too young for the job in the first place.

Rosemary Harris, as the daughter of the heroic marshal played by Ustinov, oddly enough didn't jar the relationship, for her speech was pure stage-English, or perhaps stage-American would be better, broadly and carefully genteel-to-grand and nearer to Ustinov's grand gesture stage-British and suitable therefore for such a pairing.

Nancy Wickwire, apart from her non-Ustinov nationality in speech, gave off a fine limpid sincerity as the dedicated nurse who cared for the ancient war hero, who knew instinctively how to cajole him into any pose she was asked, because, as she said, she was used to working with children. Inquest Set Tomorrow In Highway Fatality

The death of Raymond Kennedy, 49, of Roaring Springs, Pa., in an auto accident last Saturday will be the subject of an inquest tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the Bedford County Court House.

The victim died as a result of injuries sustained in a crash along Route 30 on the Mile Level, east of Bedford. Trooper F. R. Palmeri of the Pennsylvania State Police said Kennedy was a passenger in a car driven by Raymond D. Myers, 33, of Roaring Springs.

The car collided with another driven by William W. Smith, 21, of Artemus, Route 1, along the snow-covered highway, injuring the two drivers and killing Mr. Kennedy.

Fire Destroys Moving Firm In Baltimore

Two Floors Of Four Story Structure Collapse With Roar

BALTIMORE (AP)—A four-story brick building housing a moving firm was reduced to a shell yesterday by an eight-alarm fire.

A third of the city's firemen fought the blaze in Southwest Baltimore, at the Strippy Storage and Moving Co. Inc., before controlling it about 5 p.m. The building was full of furniture.

There was no damage estimate.

The second and third floors of the building collapsed with a roar just before the fire was brought under control. One of the outside walls was cracked but none fell.

Two firemen suffered minor injuries. Ernest Sauble was treated for cuts and burns of the forehead and Gilbert Thompson bruised his nose on a ladder.

Firemen did most of their work from 30 to 75 feet away because of the weakened walls which threatened to collapse.

Chief John Killen said firemen had to break in the first-floor door and when they did the flames leaped through the upper stories.

Thick yellow smoke blanketed the area during the height of the fire. Traffic was blocked for a time a block south on Frederick Road. A crowd of about 1,000 persons gathered to watch the flames.

Mother Quizzed In Son's Death

LOGAN (AP)—Mrs. Chris Chambers was to be questioned further today in the fatal shooting of her 35-year-old son, Homer, at his Orville home south of Logan.

State Trooper Jerry Neal said Mrs. Chambers admitted the shooting yesterday after the son threatened her.

Mrs. Chambers told the officer she ran into the house and fired through the door when her son tried to get in.

WELCOME WARM WEATHER—Thousands of bathers flocked to the beaches in Miami yesterday to greet the long delayed return of warm weather. The mercury climbed to 72 degrees after the coldest 20 day period in Florida's history. The weather man, not too popular lately, was as pleased as anyone at the return of warm weather, and announced that no more cold was in sight.

W. Va. Cities To Plan Way Of Fighting Rate

CHARLESTON (AP)—City officials of Charleston, Huntington and Logan met here today to explore ways of combatting a rate increase proposal of United Fuel Gas Co.

Mayor Harold L. Frankel and City Manager Robert M. Hoisington, both of Huntington, and Mayor Litz McGuire of Logan were to meet with Charleston Mayor John T. Copenhaver's office.

The UFG rate increase has been set for hearing April 2 by the Public Commission.

Free Enterprise, U.S. Myth, Being Renewed

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Free enterprise has been an American myth since the first Congress in 1789 passed the first tariff act to protect businessmen and farmers from the competition of foreign goods.

They've kept it a limited free enterprise system ever since by seeking—in addition to various other government benefits—even broader tariff protection. It's an old story. And it's being renewed now.

In 1934, Congress passed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act as part of the Roosevelt New Deal effort to overcome the depression by getting world trade moving.

Part Of Policy Under present law if an American business feels it is being hurt by a certain foreign import, it can appeal to the commission to raise the tariff on that item. The commission can't do the raising by itself. It can only recommend that the President do so.

Can Appeal He's free to suit himself, after deciding the effect of this one action on American foreign policy and foreign trade in general.

Reciprocal trade foes want this kind of change made. Take the President's discretionary power away and let a Tariff Commission approval of a tariff boost become final unless Congress intervenes.

But Congress almost certainly would do nothing. So, while the President wanted tariffs lowered, the commission could raise them. In effect, this would shift control from the White House to Congress.

That would just about end reciprocal trade agreements.

Two Elderly Sisters Die Of Exposure

Police Discover Bodies In Home At Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—The bodies of two elderly sisters were found in their home here, victims of heart failure and exposure.

Police identified the two as Victoria A. Hyde, 90 and Lovina Cookson about 80.

Neighbors had notified police, the sisters and their cats which apparently had been their only companions had not been seen for several days.

Miss Cookson's body, clad in two overcoats pinned together with safety pins, was found face down on the floor of her bedroom on the second floor. Coroner A. McDonald Magruder said she apparently had been dead about a week. He attributed death to a heart attack.

Mrs. Hyde's body, clad in a dress, was found in bed in her first floor room. The coroner said she died of exposure and heart failure some time after Miss Cookson's death.

Police said Mrs. Hyde's legs and left arm were paralyzed by a stroke several years ago and she had lost her eyesight about a year ago.

Dependent upon the care given her by her younger sister, Mrs. Hyde apparently had lain helplessly in her bed after Miss Cookson's death, police said.

They reported the house was cold and there was no oil in the tank of the furnace.

Area Firemen Answer Calls

The Bowman's 'Addition' firemen yesterday afternoon checked two minor blazes.

A camp fire built by small children was blamed for a grass fire which scorched about half an acre of land on the farm of Herman Greise. Firemen said it was fortunate the wind was not blowing at the time.

The volunteers also got a call to the home of Gene Appold, who was burning some old auto seat covers in the rear of his house.

The flames spread to a pile of used tires, and when the fire got out of control the firemen were summoned.

Firemen said Appold handles junk autos on his premises. Some 11 firefighters answered the two calls which were under supervision of H. A. Smith, first captain.

Young Boys Fall Through Ice, Perish

Youngsters Tried To Cross Lankford Bay With Pet Dogs

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — It was a sunny Saturday afternoon and two farm boys with their dogs started across the ice of Lankford Bay, still frozen over since last weekend's snowstorm.

Yesterday, their bodies were found beneath a hole in the rotting ice. The boys, Donald Keen, 8, and David Whitley, 9, had gone out to play in the fields of deep snow.

Kent County Sheriff Bartus Vickers said they had almost reached the western shore of the bay 500 yards away when they fell through. The spot where they drowned in the icy waters is six miles from this Eastern Shore town.

Missing At Saturday Dinner

The boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Keen and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Whitley, were missed at dinner time Saturday. An alarm went out when one of the dogs, a German shepherd, returned to the Keen home seeking wet.

The first attempt to find the boys, by 150 volunteer firemen and neighbors, was called about midnight Saturday. It resumed early Sunday morning.

The youngsters had last been seen in a field near their homes in the Quakerneck section of Kent County. Searchers were going along the west bank of the small at the Western Maryland 4-H Center at Pleasant Valley in Garrett County.

The various agents from Garrett and Washington counties accepted other duties for the annual camp. Merritt N. Pope, an assistant agent in Washington County, will serve as rifle instructor and supervisor of the kitchen. Richard Schukraft, another Washington County assistant, will be in charge of handicraft classes and softball. Rankin Lusby, a Garrett County assistant, will be assistant crafts instructor and all so will be in charge of minor sports.

All 4-H Club boys from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties between the ages of 10 and 21 are eligible for the camp. Last summer 79 boys attended.

A swimming instructor will be hired and he also will be in charge of volley ball games.

The bodies were recovered with anchored lines let down through the hole in the ice. An Army helicopter from Fort Meade flew them to Chestertown.

Searchers who found the bodies were Frank Legg, Tommy Slagle and Lawrence Nicholson. Beside the volunteers, the group included state troopers, National Guardsmen, personnel of a Nike base at Tolchester and firemen from Chestertown, Rock Hall and Belterton.

The second dog, David Whitley's cocker spaniel, was never found.

New Parking Lot Slated Downtown

W. Maryland Railway Advances Plans For 92-Car Facility

The Western Maryland Railway is fairly well along with plans to create space on the west side of South Mechanic Street for a 92-car parking lot.

This was revealed today by W. Arthur Grotz, railroad president, who said there are a number of details still to be worked out.

He did say the railroad can have the parking facility in operation in a couple of months.

The freight shed on South Mechanic Street plus the Western Division freight office will be demolished.

Other Shed To Be Retained

In addition, three tracks leading into the long metal warehouse will be removed along with the platform between the two freight sheds.

The shed on Canal Street plus the old Fidelity Trust warehouse will be retained, Grotz added.

Blacktop will be laid and drainage installed in the area where the tracks and buildings will be removed.

Operation of the parking lot will be leased to a private concern, the railroad president said.

Modernize Offices

The present freight office will be moved to the Fidelity warehouse where office space there will be modernized.

Present freight handled at the building to be razed, will be moved to the Canal Street shed, Grotz added.

This is the second downtown parking lot on the way in recent weeks. The Downtown Parking Corporation, comprised of merchants and individuals, is installing a lot at the site of the Orrick property at the B&O Railroad and Union Street, that will provide space for over 100 cars.

Sick Leave Planned For School Guards

The Mayor and Council today approved a plan to allow women school crossing guards sick leave on the basis of one and a quarter days a month.

Under the order, signed by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, sick leave can be accrued during the school year but not from year to year.

It was further ordered the crossing guards receive pay during the period between the opening and closing of the school year including days which schools are closed because of a holiday, Christmas and Easter vacations.

The order pointed out since those employed in this work are required to spend only four hours a day in performing duties and because of their short work day and week, they could not be classified as regular employees which would have given them certain vacation and sick leave benefits.

The adjustment in working conditions was ruled in order because of the importance of their work requiring daily exposure to the elements and the fact they must be available for duty during the school year.

On another police matter, council approved the appointment of Officer Robert L. Gilpin to the position of desk sergeant effective immediately. His pay will be $314 a month.

Another appointive action affecting the Recreation Department made William Thompson basketball custodian at $1 an hour; and Louis Arnone, Robert Hall and William Eckhard basketball referees at $1 an hour.

Brothers Sue Stepmother In Property Case

Apartment Houses In North End Are Involved In Dispute

Two local brothers today brought suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against their stepmother in connection with property valued at more than $100,000.

Plaintiffs in the equity suit are Charles Paul Roeder, 813 Ashland Avenue, and Christopher Erich Roeder, 808 Trust Avenue. Named defendant is Maude Erna Roeder, 609 Piedmont Avenue, the second wife of the late Charles A. Roeder.

The bill of complaint states that the plaintiffs are the sons of the late Charles A. Roeder and the respondent, Maude Erna Roeder, is the widow of the said Charles A. Roeder by virtue of a second marriage. She is said to be a former resident of Cincinnati but now residing here.

It was stated that the late Charles A. Roeder during his lifetime possessed a number of parcels of real estate, title to which was held in the name of Charles A. and Anna Johanna Roeder, his wife and mother of the complainants.

Cite Labor

One parcel of land consists of lots on Piedmont Avenue and in 1932 Charles A. and Anna Johanna Roeder constructed a large and valuable apartment house at 609 Piedmont Avenue known as "Forest View Apartments".

In 1933 they constructed another apartment house known as "Skyview Apartments" at the rear of 609 Piedmont Avenue.

The two brothers state they contributed many years labor in the construction and maintenance of the two apartment houses and contributed considerable amounts of money to their parents towards construction of the apartments.

The two brothers claim the tenancy of the apartments was done for their parents without any remuneration or compensation. It is claimed the parents promised and agreed that upon their deaths the property would be devised to them.

Allege Were Left Property

The parents and sons managed the property until April 18, 1952 when Anna Johanna Roeder died. They also state that in June, 1952 the father executed a last will and testament by the terms of which he devised all the real property and estate to the sons.

The two brothers are claiming that on several occasions subsequent to the execution of this will, the father promised the provisions of the will would not be changed, because he had been advised and knew that the respondent, Maude Erna Roeder, would under the laws of Maryland automatically share equally with the complainants in his entire estate.

The complainants state that the respondent had become acquainted with their parents and after the death of their mother she came here and renewed her acquaintance with their father. On April 11, 1953 she married him. At that time Charles A. Roeder was 70 years of age and she was 50 years old.

Was In Hospital

On August 7, 1957 their father died, the complainants state. Up until the latter part of 1956 he had enjoyed good health. When he was 73 years old his health became impaired, they state, and during January 1957 he became enfeebled and was not sufficiently alert mentally to handle his own affairs.

The complainants state their father was a patient in Memorial Hospital from February 21, 1957 until March 15, 1957 and that during that time the respondent took over all of his affairs, managed his real estate and property and handled his funds.

They claim that on April 12, 1957, the respondent, knowing of his enfeebled mental and physical condition caused to be prepared a paper purporting to be a deed conveying real estate to a trustee and then to Charles A. Roeder and Maude Erna Roeder, his wife.

Included was the apartment house valued at $100,000 and program is scheduled to start at 8 p.m., Chaney said.

Street Plans May Save City Sizeable Sum

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said today the city stands to save approximately $20,000 under a plan to extend Fourth Street.

The plan was revealed after the commissioner was authorized by the Mayor and Council to advertise for bids on pipe for culverts at Maple Street, Oregon Avenue and Mullin Street for the extension of Fourth Street from Blackiston Avenue to Oldtown Road.

The bids asked were for 70 lineal feet of 48-inch reinforced concrete pipe; 90 feet of 60-inch reinforced concrete pipe; and 110 lineal feet of 72-inch asphalt coated and paved corrugated metal 10 gauge culvert pipe.

The Fourth Street plan had been discussed by Buchholz, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson as far as costs were concerned. It was decided the city had a chance to get a new street if it could provide proper drainage.

Excess fill material will be available from the Industrial Boulevard project. Nuzum estimated this to be 75,000 cubic yards and said the contractor had agreed to let the city have the fill for the dips in the proposed streetway.

The completed plan would open Fourth Street from Memorial Avenue, utilizing Church Street between New Hampshire and Mullin and Roemer Drive to Oldtown Road, Nuzum said.

The street will parallel and be 250 feet north of the Industrial Boulevard, giving that area two thorough streets and being a help to residential development.

Buchholz estimated cost of the project to the city at $6,000. But if the city had to do the entire project, cost would be $25,000 or $30,000, he added.

On another street matter, council today approved an ordinance calling for the closing of Homestead Avenue from Fourth Street to Second Street. George H. Tedrick, Howard M. Spiker, and C. Glenn Watson, local realtors, were named commissioners to assess any damages.

Warmest Weather In Weeks Arrives

The temperature was warmer in Cumberland today than it has been for several weeks.

By noon downtown thermometers were reading in the upper 50s, with the Times-News recording 58 degrees.

Last Monday morning the temperature was down to 12 below at Oakland and Accident and three below in Cumberland.

The forecast for Allegany and Garrett counties calls for tonight to be fair and not so cold with the low between 27 and 30 degrees.

Tomorrow is to see some cloudiness but continued mild.

Gradual Thaw

The mild temperatures of the past three days is causing the snow to melt gradually in this section, but not enough to cause appreciable rise in the streams.

The Potomac River at noon today at the Wiley Ford gauge was 3.22 feet and holding steady for the past 24 hours. As a means of comparison, flood stage at this point is 17 feet.

The Savage River Dam's level is 70 feet below the spillway. This, according to Julian G. Patrick, Luke, supervisory engineer, leaves plenty of room for the runoff.

Oakland Has 41 Degrees

Oakland had a high reading of 41 degrees yesterday, and the low during the night was 34 degrees. The State Roads Commission district office here reported the temperature 46 degrees at noon today. Accident had a 37-degree low this morning and 46 at noon.

For the first time in many weeks, Route 40 was bare through Garrett County as the sun and warmth of the past three days cut through the snow and ice. The roads commission crews in that county are still widening the tight spots. There had not been too much of the snow melted, and there is an accumulation of 18 inches on the ground.

Jury Hearing Town Dispute

Testimony was started today in Allegany County Court in cross claims of the Mayor and Council, Joseph Taylor brought suit against the Town of Westernport for $3,500 which he claims as damages to his property at Walnut and Division streets when the town did some work on the street and sewage line.

Taylor claims excavation by the town has left an embankment on his property and that his property has been damaged. The town filed suit against Taylor for $20 for curbing liens in connection with the work.

A jury is hearing the case with Chief Judge George Henderson presiding. Horace P. Whitworth Sr., is counsel for the town while Peter Carpentieri and Jack Mullen are attorneys for Taylor.

Visiting Ban Lifted At County Infirmary

Dr. J. E. McLean, county physician, today announced that the visiting ban at the Allegany County Infirmary has been lifted. The ban was placed in effect several weeks ago as a precaution against the spread of respiratory illness.

Two Damage Suits Filed Over Wrecks

Two damage suits were docketed in Allegany County Circuit Court today as a result of auto accidents.

Marion B. Lohr, Flintstone, a school teacher, filed suit against John Snyder, LaVale, for injuries she allegedly suffered when Snyder's vehicle crashed into the rear of her car last May 24 on the Oldtown Road.

The plaintiff states the crash caused her to be thrown forward like a "whip lash" and she suffered injury to the cervical vertebrae. From the time of the accident until December 4, 1957 she states she had to undergo treatment from a physician. She also claims she lost wages ordinarily earned during the summer vacation period on another job.

The plaintiff is asking $7,500 damages in the suit. Edward J. Ryan is attorney for the plaintiff. In the second suit, Marian Freeman and Stuart Narrad, both of Bethesda, are suing Carl R. Mauzy, Flintstone, for injuries allegedly suffered in a crash on U. S. Route 40 in the vicinity of Flintstone last July 12.

The declaration, filed by Edwin R. Sanders, an attorney from Rockville, states that Mauzy was headed west on Route 40 and collided with a car operated by Max I. Conley, which in turn struck the Freeman machine.

The Freeman machine was damaged to the extent of $700 and the plaintiff states that the crash caused injuries to the left ankle and foot. Narrad claims he suffered injuries to the thigh, back and chest. Freeman claims damages of $30,000 and Narrad is asking for $25,000 damages.

Bids Submitted On Water Pipe

The Mayor and Council received bids today for 3,600 feet of cast iron pipe and fittings for the Water Department.

They were referred to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan.

Bidding are U. S. Pipe and Supply Co., Upton, La.; U. S. Pipe and Supply Co., Williamsport, Pa.; Tri-State Pipe and Mill Supply Co., State Mine and Mill Supply Co., Philadelphia, and Brock's Scrap and Salvage Company, city.

Court Rejects Appeal Made On Jail Term

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The West Virginia Supreme Court today refused, by a 3-1 decision, to review a Preston County order which brought Harold Lester Lough a one-year jail sentence on an involuntary manslaughter conviction.

Lough was indicted in the death of Orena Jean Bucklew last July 8 as a result of a June 28 automobile accident involving a car in which the woman was riding and Lough's truck on W.Va. 7 near Clearwater Park.

In his petition for review, Lough told the Supreme Court that the circuit judge improperly required the defendant to put on his case after the state had failed to show that Lough was operating his truck in an unlawful manner.

Judge James B. Riley noted that he would have granted the appeal, with Judge Raymond absent.

Keegan Cites Safety Record At Blue Bridge

Police and Fire Commissioner 860 days ago, a daily average of 10,486 cars or 9,000,000 vehicles traffic setup at the Greene Street approach to the new Blue Bridge, accident to date.

He said he could not see why cars have used the area "since petitioners were so concerned and the bridge was opened without an accident."

A petition signed by 102 persons was submitted to the Mayor and Council asking that the lights be changed to give pedestrians more safety and motorists better service.

Keegan said he had a few remarks to make about the petition, cluding a 45-foot safety island, at every intersection.

TAPPING ON THE PORTS

by J. Suter Kegg

North Carolina, Duke In Big Game Friday

They're down to the wire in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball race and North Carolina's hopes on repeating as champion are riding on Pete Brennan, a long-legged senior from Brooklyn, N. Y.

Duke's Blue Devils (10-2) are leading the field by half a game and play Virginia (4-8) tomorrow night.

Then the North Carolina Tar Heels get their last chance for top spot and the right to play the last-place team in the ACC Tournament's first round. North Carolina and Duke play Friday and a Tar Heel win would wind up the race in a tie, giving Frank McGuire's boys first seeding on its defending champion status.

If Duke loses to the fifth-place Cavaliers, North Carolina could win the regular season race outright by licking the Blue Devils.

That puts it up to Brennan, Tar Heel ace who is the ACC's leading scorer and rebounder and a strong All-America candidate. He'll probably face a gang-up Duke defense. Says McGuire:

"That's what they've been doing lately. They figure to foul him, knock him down, but put him on the line. Don't let him shoot, foul him first. He's a game kid. He's tired and beat up when he goes to the line late in the game, but he hits 'em."

He sure does. He shot 20 free throws to score 29 points Saturday when North Carolina dropped Maryland 65-59 and knocked the Terps out of their last chance to the Duke for first place. The loss put Maryland in fourth place, a full game behind N. C. State.

The conference rankings now put Duke, 10-2, in first place; North Carolina, 10-3; N. C. State, 9-4; and Maryland, 8-5. Virginia leads the second division 4-8; Wake Forest and South Carolina are tied, 3-9; and Clemson brings up the rear with 3-10.

But final standings determine only pairings for the championship tournament at Raleigh, N. C., March 6-8.

Maryland has two games this week. On Wednesday, the Terps entertain Georgetown in a non-league game, and Saturday night they play their final regular-season contest, meeting South Carolina in an ACC tussle at College Park.

Residue From The Sports Keg

It took a long time but we've finally come up with the answer to this question asked by a reader many months ago: "Why are bowlers called keggers?" ... Bowling dates back to ancient Germany when citizens carried a keg, a sort of cudgel ... Shaped somewhat like an Indian club, the keg was a versatile gadget that could be twirled to keep the wrists supple ... The ancient clergy called on the citizen and his keg to prove that the citizen was leading an honorable life ... The keg was placed at one end of a long runway, vaguely resembling modern alleys, and the townsman, equipped with a round stone known as a "heide," was placed at the other ... If he knocked over the keg with the stone his reputation remained unscathed ... If he missed, he was exposed as a rogue ... The practice was abandoned along about the fifth century, but the clerics began putting the keg in clusters and, just for fun, tried to see who could topple the most ... The game grew in popularity and soon spread beyond the monasteries ... Frank Lane, new general manager of the Cleveland Indians, never played baseball but dabbled in football under the tutelage of Greasy Neale ... If you think Midwest high schools don't take their basketball seriously, look at this: Two games between Middletown and Hamilton drew 24,000 in the Cincinnati Gardens and meant a take-home cut of $9,200 for each school ... If the "winter book" on Leo Burke is correct, the onetime Hagerstown High three-sport star will be a major leaguer in two or three years ... Baseball Digest, in a pre-season scouting report, has this to say about Leo, who went on to reach collegiate athletic heights at Virginia Tech: "Burke started in too fast company last year but finished strong. Excellent distance hitter, good wrists, good throwing arm. Figures to improve average. Might do at third. Plenty of desire but about two or three years away." ... A trophy honoring the memory of a former All-American basketball player who became a distinguished Franciscan priest will be placed in competition when Providence College plays at St. Bonaventure Tuesday ... The award will be known as the Johnny Krieger trophy in memory of the late Rev. Anselm Krieger, OFM ... After playing basketball at Providence, he entered the Franciscan order and later served as athletic director of St. Bonaventure ... A four-year-old colt named The Box 2nd probably is the tallest race horse in captivity ... He stands 17 hands, two (70 inches) and is now at Gulfstream Park ... Hal Price Headley's Whopper is the best-remembered big horse of recent times ... He also stood more than 17 hands (a hand is four inches) and was a stakes winner ... Bull Lea, greatest of present-day sires, and the ill-fated Australian horse, Phar Lap, also were extra large ... The Box 2nd eats 12 to 13 quarts of oats per day, two to three times more than the average race horse, and trainer Robert Cramer says he's still growing ... Cumberland's Clifton van Roby worked with Hank Mazza of Clarksville in the championship game Saturday night at Buckhannon between West Virginia Tech and Wesleyan ... It was the fifth time in seven years of officiating in the West Virginia Inter-collegiate Basketball Tournament that Vane had been called on to foot the whistle in the title game ... Bill Evans, veteran Fairmont sports columnist, declared yesterday in print that Roby has become somewhat of an institution at Buckhannon and jocosely suggested that that town name a back alley for him ... It was, of course, no reflection on Van's officiating, merely Bill's way of having a bit of fun with him ... Roby has always been held in high regard in West Virginia, as evidenced by being chosen to work five championship games ... And at the conclusion of the week-long event Saturday night, he was asked to return next year ... Incidentally, three area boys played in the tourney ... They were Bill Bauderman, former Moorefield High star who performed for the champion Wesleyan Bobcats; Ronnie Phillips of Ridgeley, who plays with Fairmont State; and "Ace" Pascal, Keyser, who is a member of the Morris Harvey team ... Ed Parsons, former Fort Hill High baseball standout, being given a lot of consideration by the Philadelphia Phillies ... Yesterday, Ed started at third base for the rookie team of the Phils against the St. Louis Cardinals at Clearwater, Fla. ... Ed was signed by Lefty Hite, Phils scout, after receiving his diploma at Fort Hill in 1956, and last year played third for Olean, N. Y., in the Class D Pony League.

LaSalle Out To Rebound Against Bruce

Skein Ends, Geatz Quint After Sweep Of Bulldogs

By JIM DAY

Times Scholastic Sports Editor

LaSalle High's cagers, their dreams of an undefeated basketball season shattered Friday night when Fort Hill staged a last-second rally for a 55-54 bid victory, still have the best win-loss record in the tri-state area. Seeing their perfect mark fall after compiling a string of 19 straight wins this season and 20 over a two-year period, the North Centre Streeters take the court tonight against Bruce at Westernport in the first of three games for them this week. All are on foreign boards.

The Explorers, who rapped the Bulldogs, 82-54, on the local hardwoods in their first clash, will be at Frostburg tomorrow night in the return go against Beall and then close out the regular grid Friday in the important city fray against Allegany on the Campobello boards.

A share in the city title is still within the grasp of coach George Geatz's quint. The win by Fort Hill gave the Sentinels the lead in the race with a 3-1 record. LaSalle trails with its 2-1 mark but could knot their South End rivals for the final honors by sweeping the set against the Campers.

If Allegany spills the Irish, the Sentinels add another crown to their already won Western Maryland Interscholastic League and County Class "A" honors. And the Sentinels are still hopeful of scoring a sweep in laurels for the season as they could wind up with a half dozen championships.

With the District 1 tournament coming up a week from Friday on the Sentinel boards, the Hill-toppers will be after the District 1 Class A honors and a shot at the state championship. They have the big one tomorrow night here against Frederick in what could determine the CVAL crown.

The Cadets, last year's league and state kings, are a half game in front with a 6-3 mark while the Sentinels and North Hagers-town trail in second with 5-3 logs.

The Hubs play here tomorrow against Allegany.

After Series Sweep

The Explorers, tonight, will be going for their seventh series sweep of the season and ninth victory in ten showings against WMI foes. Already blanked in the series with the Explorers from the WMI have been Valley and Mt. Savage while Ace, Bruce and Beall were trimmed the first time around. The Sentinels and LaSalle spit in their rivalry.

LaSalle also has trimmed Ridgeley, Northern of Accident, Bedford and Hyndman in home-and-home clashes. On the road the locals have won eight and lost none.

The Bulldogs have a pair of games yet before closing shop on a disastrous campaign. They tangle with Keyser in their final contest at Westernport Wednesday night. Coach Leonard Ritchie's hoopers have grabbed only five triumphs in 19 starts.

Two other games round out tonight's card as teams in the West Virginia area tune up for the section "B" tourneys that get underway this week.

Berkeley Springs (14-2) will invade Paw Paw (15-4) and Elk Garden (11-9) is host to Fort Ashby (14-6) as the Potomac Valley Conference has only four more games carded. The Pirates, one of the surprise quints of the campaign, hold a 76-59 triumph over Berkeley while Fort Ashby, also flooring one of the strongest quints in the school's history, whipped the Stags, 71-60, in their opener.

Tourney Lineups Set

The lineup for the area West Virginia Class B tourneys was announced with the rounds to be staged at Potomac State College in Keyser, Moorefield and Berkeley Springs High and Shepherd College, Shepherdstown.

Five quints, defending champion West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney, Fort Ashby, Ridgeley, Piedmont and Elk Garden tangle for the Section 16 honors at Potomac State with the first round slated Thursday night.

Ridgeley will meet journey-favorite Piedmont at 7 o'clock and Elk Garden plays West Virginia Deaf at 8 o'clock Friday. Fort Ashby plays the winner of the Ridgeley-Piedmont tilt at 7 o'clock and the opening-day losers meet an hour later. The title game is slated Saturday at 2 o'clock following a consolation contest.

Three schools will participate in the 15-B affair at Moorefield with Circleville drawing Moorefield Thursday night at 8 o'clock and Mathias getting a bye into the championship game by meeting the winner on Friday at 8 o'clock. Petersburg won the tourney last season but has been relegated to Class A this winter.

Capron '37 Champion

In the four-team 14-B field at Berkeley Springs, Capron Bridge meets the host quint in the opener at 7:30 Friday night while Paw Paw and Wardsville tangle in the other semi-final. The

The Washington Senators won only 55 games in 1957. Several of them came as a direct result of the power hitting of Roy Sievers. Most were hard earned victories.

In the following situation, manager Cookie Lavagetto had to make a split-second decision. His decision helped pull the game out of the fire and into the Senators' win column. Would you have ordered the same move?

The Senators and Detroit are deadlocked 1-1 in the last of the ninth at Washington. Frank Lary (R) is on the mound for the Tigers. Pete Runnels opens the inning with a single and moves to second when Roy Sievers is hit by a pitched ball. Herb Plews sacrifices for the first out, the runners advance. Jim Lemon is walked intentionally, filling the bases. At this point, Al Aber (L) replaces Lary. Lou Berberet (L) is the next batter with Milt Bolling (R) to follow.

Would you:
a. Have Berberet try a squeeze bunt?
b. Put in a righthanded pinch-hitter for Berberet?
c. Let Berberet swing away?
d. Order Runnels to try a steal of home?

(Other data: Berberet has 14 hits in 59 times at bat for a .237 average on the season. Runnels has one steal in 20 games; the Senators' right-handed pinch-hitters are Bob Lisher, Ed Fitz Gerald and Jerry Snyder.)

Fangio Kidnaping Casts Pall Over Havana Race

HAVANA—(INS)—The kidnaping of world champion racing driver Juan Manuel Fangio by Cuban rebels touched off a widespread police hunt in the island republic today.

The king of sports car racing was abducted at gunpoint last night from the lobby of Hotel Lincoln in downtown Havana. It was one of the boldest moves in the Rebels' 14-months fight against the regime of President Fulgencio Batista.

The kidnaping cast a pall over the Cuban Grand Prix 500-kilometer race scheduled for this afternoon.

The 46-year-old Fangio, five-time winner of the world's automobile racing championship, had tied with Britain's Stirling Moss for first place in yesterday's 100-mile race.

Shoved Into Auto

Fangio had just returned from the speed runs and was speaking to a friend, Nelo Ugolini, when the unmasked man walked up, pulled out a pistol and ordered him to walk to the door.

There were several other persons in the lobby at the time, eyewitnesses said, but they were so stunned that they were unable to take any action in time.

The millionaire Argentine driver was shoved into a waiting auto and it sped away.

Later, anonymous callers told newspapers, radio stations, and other news media in Havana that Fangio had been kidnaped by members of Fidel Castro's Rebel organization.

Insurgent elements had warned earlier they would try to "wreck" the auto races.

Authorities quickly launched an intensive search for the kidnapers. Special police guards were assigned to guard Moss, France's Jean Beltra and the other world-famous drivers slated to compete in the Grand Prix.

Was Odds-On Choice

Fangio was the odds-on favorite to win the race for the second straight year.

Known as the "old man" in the sport, where the average age of top drivers is between 28 and 35, Fangio had been racing for more than 20 years. He has won more than 80 of the approximately 150 major contests he has entered, including almost every Grand Prix.

He has been seriously injured three times and often caused wonderment in racing circles for having survived so long. Fangio's opponents regard him as a man of infinite skill and resourcefulness.

Born in Argentina of Italian parents, Fangio had his first job as a mechanic at the age of 11. His racing career began when he was 18 and he scored his first victory at 23.

Fangio has been on the big-time auto racing circuit since 1949. His wins include the 1957 French Grand Prix, the 1955 Holland Grand Prix, the 1957 Sebring, Fla., 12-hour sports car race and the 1956 Sebring Grand Prix of Endurance.

His ambition always has been to drive in the Indianapolis 500-mile classic but he conceded recently that "I'm a little too old now."

Fangio is the sole distributor of General Motors and Mercedes-Benz cars and Vespa motor scooters in Buenos Aires.

Shumaker Named Rifle President

Merle W. Shumaker was elected president of the Fort Hill Rifle & Pistol Club, Inc., at the annual meeting of the organization yesterday afternoon at the Bowman's Addition Fire Hall indoor range.

Other officers chosen for one-year terms were Leo Leasure, vice president; James Guthridge, executive officer; Jake Livengood, instructor; and Norman White, secretary-treasurer.

Tribute was paid to retiring president Frank Simpson who headed the Fort Hill club for 11 years. Under Simpson's leadership the club made steady progress in membership, facilities and program.

The membership discussed plans for firing the director of civilian marksmanship qualification courses. These courses are fired annually with the 45 Colt automatic pistol and the M1 Garand 30-06 rifle. Arms and ammunition for this purpose are issued to the club by the Department of the Army.

Leasure was appointed chairman of a committee to organize a hunter safety course to be conducted in the fall. Conducted under National Rifle Association regulations, the course would be primarily directed to young hunters (14 years and up) but would be open to all persons.

A final action of the meeting was Shumaker's presentation of a Freedom shooting mat to Norman White as a token of the rifle team's appreciation for his many years of service as secretary-treasurer of the club.

Goldsmith Wins Stock Car Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(INS)—Paul Goldsmith, 32, of St. Clair, Mich., edged Curtis Turner of Roanoke, Va., by two seconds to win the 160-mile grand national stock car race here yesterday.

Goldsmith, pressured by Turner from start to finish, averaged 101.18 miles per hour in his Pontiac sedan. The winning time was one hour, 34 minutes and 53 seconds.

Goldsmith earned $4,550 for the victory and Turner, who drove a 1958 Ford, won $2,500 to add to the $4,000 he garnered by winning a 160-mile test for convertibles Saturday.

NCAA Tournament West Virginia Jinx

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK—(INS)—Just one game and one tournament stand between West Virginia's top-ranked Mountaineers and the school's biggest jinx—the NCAA's national collegiate basketball championships.

West Virginia has appeared in the post-season tourney the last three years but never has survived the first round, being defeated by LaSalle, Dartmouth and Canisius in the Eastern regionals.

The Mountaineers have only one regular season game left against George Washington this Saturday, before entering the Southern Conference eight-team tournament at Richmond, Va., March 6-8.

Fred Schaus' five is expected to overcome the two obstacles and make it into the Eastern regionals at Madison Square Garden March 11. Their first opponent, and Schaus hopes not the last, will be Boston College or Manhattan or possibly Dartmouth.

Mountaineers Hold Lead

The Mountaineers beat Pitt, 99 to 86, Saturday for their 22nd win in 23 games, thus maintaining their slim hold on first place in the International News Service rankings compiled in a nationwide survey.

The top 20 has no new teams this week. The lineup:
1. West Virginia 22-1; 2. Kansas State 18-1; 3. San Francisco 21-1; 4. Cincinnati 20-2; 5. Temple 20-2; 6. Kansas 16-4; 7. Dayton 21-2; 8. Duke 16-5; 9. Notre Dame 19-4; 10. Michigan State 15-4.

Second ten: 11. Kentucky 18-5; 12. Bradley 16-5; 13. North Carolina 17-5; 14. Oklahoma State 17-5; 15. North Carolina State 16-5; 16. Oregon State 17-4; 17. California 15-6; 18. Maryland 15-6; 19. Seattle 16-5; 20. Tennessee 17-5.

Kansas State continued its march toward the NCAA tourney Saturday with an 82-62 win over Missouri. Kansas dropped out of contention by losing to Nebraska, 43 to 41, as Milt Chamberlain was held to 18 points.

Oscar Robertson poured in 36 points to lead Cincinnati to a 86-71 win over Tulsa. That gave the spectacular sophomore 742 points for the season, breaking Jack Twyman's school record of 712.

The 47-year-old Demaret thrived on mud and water puddles yesterday in grabbing the lead on the back nine of a delayed third round, while Pete Mazur, the halfway mark leader from Buffalo, N. Y., was getting off too many hook shots from the tees.

Demaret's 70-70-69—209 left him two strokes ahead of Marty Furgal, the 1951 Houston winner from Lincoln, Ill., and Roberto de Vicenz, the long-driving Argentine from Mexico City. Mazur placed a 77 beside earlier rounds of 68 and 71 for a 216 that was seven strokes off the pace but even par for 34 holes over the 7,200-yard, par-72 Memorial Park course.

A stroke behind Furgal and De Vicenzo were Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., and Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla., with 212s.

Notre Dame beat Navy, 85 to 63, and Michigan State clipped Wisconsin, 83 to 59, to extend its Big Ten conference lead. Kentucky topped Alabama, 45 to 43, to maintain its Southeast conference supremacy. Tennessee lost to Auburn, 72 to 68.

Bradley, which probably will go to the NIT if Cincinnati takes the Missouri Valley Conference title, bombed St. Louis, 82 to 68. North Carolina beat Maryland, 66 to 59, and NC State topped LaSalle, 71 to 62.

Oklahoma State broke a three-game losing streak by dumping Houston, 73 to 60.

California stayed a half-game ahead of Oregon State in the Pacific Coast Conference by topping

Comptroller Post Sought By Manning

Joseph L. Manning, Baltimore, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association of Maryland, one of the largest trade associations in the U.S., filed today at the secretary of state's office for the Democratic nomination for comptroller.

Manning, 52, who resides with his wife at 5503 Springlake Way, Baltimore, issued the following statement:

"Because I believe that, under our democratic form of government, the people have a right to make a choice in an open primary election I am determined to make the run for comptroller of the State of Maryland and provide that choice."

"I feel that with my business background, both in public relations and in the administrative field, particularly my experience as executive head of one of the largest trade associations in the United States in the past 10 years, I am fitted for the role of a public servant and feel I am qualified to fulfill the duties as state comptroller."

"After a thorough observation of the political situation in the city and state, I am convinced that a great number of the Democratic voters feel they have been left out of the harmony plan and I shall ask them to accept me as the voters' harmony candidate."

The very concept of a hand-picked candidate for any office without a choice for the people, smacks of totalitarianism, and I shall depend on the wisdom of the voters to make the right choice on primary day."

"Within a few days I will open headquarters in the Southern Hotel."

Kiwanis To Hear Law Explanation

The facts about Maryland's new Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Law will be explained to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club in a brief panel discussion by James B. Reinhart and John F. Workmeister, local insurance agents, and William Walsh, local attorney, at the club's regular luncheon meeting Thursday at noon at Central YMCA.

Reinhart, Workmeister and Walsh will speak under the auspices of the Maryland Association of Insurance Agents, Maryland Bar Association and Bar Association of Baltimore City, which are cooperating with the state in its educational program to make the facts about the new motor vehicle law known before it becomes fully effective on June 1, 1959.

Under the new law, uninsured motor vehicle owners will be required to pay a fee of $8 and insured owners $1 on the statutory registration dates this year to create a fund. Out of this fund, victims of financially irresponsible and negligent owners and drivers will be reimbursed for economic losses up to $10,000 for death or injury of one person, $20,000 for death or injury of two or more persons in any one accident, and $5,000 property damage.

Insurance companies writing automobile liability insurance in Maryland also will be required to contribute.

Chapter Urges Tests For Cancer

A program to encourage women to have tests made for cervical cancer has been started by the Allegheny County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Recent advances have been made in the field of detecting this form of cancer and the local chapter is interested in advising people of the new program.

Dr. Howard W. Jones, medical director of the Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society, has announced that the death rate from cervical cancer has been greatly reduced if an early diagnosis is made.

He added he newly formed cytology program and cytology laboratories at Johns Hopkins Hospital and University of Maryland Hospital for training cytology technicians and processing cytology smears are rendering adequate service to the medical profession of Maryland.

Dr. Jones said that in addition to the private pathologist and the laboratories at Hopkins and University hospitals, the State Health Department also is processing cervical smears.

He said with all these facilities at hand there can be no excuse for failing to eliminate deaths due to cervical cancer.

Police Call Off Search For Lost Boy

A search for an unidentified boy who used a line telephone in Cheat Mountain area of Randolph County to report himself lost was called off yesterday by West Virginia State Police at Elkins.

They said that thorough checking had failed to turn up a report of a boy in the area who was missing.

The search began last night when Western Maryland Railway dispatchers at Elkins and in Cumberland, picked up a call made on a line telephone in which a crying boy said he had become separated from friends while on a hike and was lost.

Two troopers covered 15 miles of track in the Cheat Mountain area Saturday night. They used a rubber-tired handcar because of the accumulation of snow, which had stopped regular train traffic.

The railroad took part in the search along with the State Police. Western Maryland officials at Cumberland said that a train stopped at each of the line phones last night while making a run from Elkins to Durbin. No tracks in the snow were found.

When the dispatchers received the call which touched off the search yesterday, they tried to get the boy to locate the telephone shed from which he was talking, and to give other information that could be used to find him. They said the boy seemed scared and hung up without telling them anything more.

Mary Hawthorth's Mail

Editor's Note: We're this house with plants, a man that her husband failed to understand.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a good wife—and mother of our child. There isn't anything she can't do—needlework, painting, decorating, carpentry. Also she holds a job to help me out; and turns over her paycheck to me without comment.

In our 10 year's marriage, she still greets me at the door with a kiss—not a peck. She loves me. I know. I can see it in her eyes—a look of love, deep inside affection, warm and good. And in turn I love her deeply.

The house is always clean, she keeps me well groomed; helps me take off my shoes, and on Sundays feeds me in bed. If I want to argue, I can't get a fight out of her. She is great. But I am bothered by her love of flowers. Silly, isn't it?

She never asks for spending money, but if I give her any, she buys plants. We have plants in the kitchen, parlor, bathroom, dining room and bedrooms. I plan to build her a sun porch, just for plants.

Should I let her buy all she wants? Or limit her as I do?—E. B.

Wife Explains Her Feelings

Can you, as a woman, tell me: Should I let her buy all the plants she wants? I questioned her once about her love for plants; and her reply was something like this: "Plants are beauty; something perfect and pure that God has made; perfection that He only can make. A house without plants is an empty house. But a house with plants is a lived-in house that's bright and cheerful, full of love and beauty. If a plant dies I feel I have failed; if it lives and blooms I feel it is because of me, in some small way."

You are such barren soil that no amount of cherishing has evoked any soul growth to speak of. Thus far, you absorb love as a cat laps up cream, but you don't love back. You merely maintain a taking attitude. You are in fact so selfish that you are even jealous of your wife's love of plants. You can't deny that.

Should you let her buy all the plants she wants? In heaven's name, yes. But also get down on your knees and implore God's help in learning to love her—with spiritual liveliness; and reverent, tender appreciation; and daily generosity. —M. H.

Man On Verge Of Rebirth?

DEAR E. B.: It strikes me that you are just on the verge of spiritual rebirth — of combusting a spark of real love in your soul. Until now, you've been a cold relation to your wonderful wife, to whom seems to have a nature and disposition only a little lower than the angels.

You are groping for counsel at this time because, unconsciously, you are depressed by guilt feelings, at having so selfishly and every plant, and touch each one as if it might be a proper Christmas present.

Legislature Feud Delays Budget Action

Goldstein, Phoebeus Tangle Verbally During Luncheon

By LOUIS G. PANOS
ANNAPOLIS, Md. — A feud between two of the Senate's most powerful members smoldered in the background today as the Legislature tried to extricate itself from a snarl of "special interest" bills.

Some legislators expressed a fear that debate and parliamentary maneuvering on the measure might upset plans to move budget legislation to the floor by the end of the week.

In a weekend statement, Chairman Turnbull (D-Baltimore) indicated his Finance Committee could not top enough off the 330 million dollar budget proposals of Gov. McKeldin to avoid a major tax increase. The governor has proposed 50 per cent boosts in the sales and income taxes to make ends meet in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

But early action on the budget, said Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert), might not be possible because of such bills as those dealing with gambling.

It was a bill to outlaw slot machine joints off the Virginia shore of the Maryland-owned Patuxent which provoked a feud between Goldstein and Senate Minority Leader Phoebeus (R-Somerset).

Early Action Hoped

Phoebeus complained about Goldstein's assignment of the bill to the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee instead of to the Finance Committee, of which he is a member. As sponsor of the bill, he was anxious to have it sent to his committee, where he hoped to press for early action.

Phoebeus, whose speeches contain frequent references to his opposition to gambling and whiskey, contended that Goldstein intended a 2-1 decision of the Rules Committee that the bill should be referred to the Finance Committee. The Rules unit is composed of Phoebeus, Goldstein and Turnbull.

The Somerset senator made his displeasure known to Goldstein in a conversation during the governor's buffet luncheon party for the Legislature last Friday.

Rinized by reporters and other lawmakers, the pair engaged in an exchange during which Phoebeus accused Goldstein of being unfair. Goldstein chided Phoebeus for what he called "playing politics" with legislation during this election year.

Others in the same category which threaten to provoke extensive debate and jockeying include bills to ban jai alai with pari-mutuel wagering in Maryland and to allow the Maryland Jockey Club to abandon its race track and transfer its 40 annual racing days to Laurel.

The jai alai bill, which whisked through the Senate by a 27-1 margin last week, was still confined to the House Rules Committee.

The Pinelico bill, already the subject of Statehouse comment on its attraction for lobbyists, is scheduled for a preliminary vote in the Senate tonight. Sen. Northrup (D-Montgomery), admittedly attempting to delay its progression to the House if he cannot defeat it in the Senate, had 11 amendments prepared as part of this strategy.

Among other things, the amendments would require Pinelico to pay the State more than two million dollars it has collected for some improvements to its track and were off another $750,000 the State has earmarked for payment to track for other improvements.

The amendments also would require Pinelico's 40 days to be split between Laurel and Bowie, with the Maryland Jockey Club running 20 of its days at each track. Bowie operators, contending an outright Pinelico-Laurel move would place them in an unfair competitive position with the consolidated track, have opposed the transfer.

Seven Cities Face Water, Sewage Task

BALTIMORE, Md. — The retiring chief sanitary engineer of the State Health Department has warned that seven Maryland cities face tough water supply and sewage disposal problems.

George L. Hall, who retired Saturday after 43 years with the department, said he expects tough problems in Ocean City, Salisbury, Cambridge, Easton, Hagerstown, Frederick and Cumberland. "They are growing pains of corporate communities," Hall said.

He said there hasn't been enough long range planning. "We will have to come to the regional concept in our planning," Hall said. "Municipal boundaries will have to be forgotten. We can't ignore our next-door neighbor."

Hall, who is 70, will work as a consultant to Fred W. Tuemmler and Associates, who are planning consultants. He also will continue as an advisor to the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

Consideration Asked On Race Resolution

The Cumberland Ministerial Association today asked the Mayor and Council to consider a resolution it adopted last week calling for the elimination of discrimination.

Two weeks ago, Negro ministers and residents appeared before council to ask that places of business be opened to all.

Asked by Commissioner John J. Long about action as the result of the first meeting, Mayor Roy W. Eves replied the city has referred the request to the Chamber of Commerce for consideration.

Deaths Decline

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Traffic deaths reported to State Police headquarters totaled 15 for the month and 45 for the year today, as against 60 to same date in 1957.

Action Urged In Turnpike Bond Matter

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Arthur Lestrangle & Co., a Pittsburgh, Pa., investment house, has urged Gov. Underwood to do what he can to prevent a default in interest payments on West Virginia Turnpike revenue bonds.

The firm's letter told Underwood that prevention of a default would protect the state's credit rating. The letter said:

"Any appropriation that the state might make on behalf of the commission would be negligible in our opinion in relation to the amount of increased cost of borrowing by the state by reason of this default."

The turnpike agency announced last December that it would be unable to meet the full 2½ million dollar interest payment due next June 1. The commission said, however, that it would pick up the interest payment when money becomes available, which is expected sometime next October.

No action could be taken by the state to aid the turnpike difficulty in January of 1959, unless a special session were called.

Elderly Man Dies In Fire

RIDGELEY, Md. — An elderly man was burned to death today in a fire which destroyed his trailer home and damaged a nearby house occupied by his daughter.

Fire Chief Claude Towers said the body of William Hines, a Negro in his 80s, was found in the ruins of his trailer in the Hell's Lane section, about one mile northwest of this Caroline County community.

Mrs. Jessie Seth, the victim's daughter, escaped unhurt when flames spread to her frame house.

Charles M. Mullaney, 26, Mt. Savage, is reported in "good" condition today at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted last night after being injured in an automobile accident.

Attaches said the man sustained bruises, a laceration of his scalp and left eye.

Maryland State Police, who investigated, said Mullaney was injured when he lost control of his car on State Route 26 near Midland.
